About the Summit

The European edition of the Sustainable Foods Summit will feature food ingredients, social & customer impacts, and marketing best-practices. The summit will give an update on recent sustainability developments and eco-labelling in the food industry. For the ninth consecutive year, the summit will be hosted in the international city of Amsterdam on 1-2 June 2017.

The aim of the Sustainable Foods is to address the major issues the food industry faces concerning sustainability and eco-labels, such as Organic, Fair Trade, Rainforest Alliance, etc. Like previous editions, the summit will bring together key stake-holders in the food industry that include food manufacturers, ingredient & raw material suppliers, retailers & distributors, industry organisations & certification agencies, researchers & academics, investors, etc.
